Market Recap

Fed hopes for weaker economic growth and lower price pressures were dashed in September as the U.S. economy remained a little too resilient, and a sharp rise in oil prices clouded the inflation outlook.

The August employment report was a mixed bag. U.S. companies added +187k jobs, which was higher than expected, although prior month revisions were sharply lower. A surprising 736,000 Americans entered the labor force in August and a post-pandemic high of 6.2 million were reportedly seeking work. The influx of available workers pushed the unemployment rate up three-tenths to 3.8%, and the participation rate up to its highest point since the pandemic began.

On the inflation front, OPEC+ production cuts and a reluctance by U.S. producers to commit the capital required to ramp up production to fill the gap sent WTI crude oil prices from just under $83 per barrel at the beginning of the month to $94 four weeks later. The increase was a major contributor to the August inflation readings. Headline CPI rose +0.6% in August, the largest increase in 14 months. The energy component, reflecting the jump in oil prices, was up +5.6% in August after a +0.1% gain in July. Within the energy category, gasoline jumped +10.6%, contributing over half of the headline CPI gain for the month. Core CPI (excluding food and energy) rose +0.3%, the first uptick since February. On a year-over-year basis, overall CPI was up +3.7%, slightly above forecast and higher for the second straight month following 13 months of steady decline. Core consumer inflation retreated from a +4.7% annual pace to a still-too-high +4.3%, exactly matching expectations. There was, however, some good news in the report as combined owners' equivalent rent and rent of primary residence rose by just +0.4%, the smallest increase since December 2021. Housing costs (which fall into the service category) continue to be a primary driver of core inflation. When housing is excluded, core CPI was up just +2.2% year-over-year.

Retail sales rose +0.6% in August, well above the +0.1% median forecast, but the headline was stronger than the underlying details. Only 9 of 18 spending categories indicated growth, but gas station sales (due to higher gasoline prices) surged +5.2%, more than enough to drive the headline higher.

As expected, Fed officials voted unanimously at the September 20th FOMC meeting to hold the overnight rate target steady. In the post-meeting press conference, Chairman Jay Powell said the pause should not suggest the Fed is done raising rates, though he went on to say the committee will proceed carefully in deciding whether another hike will be necessary. What wasn't expected was the rather hawkish outlook for 2024 and 2025. The first dot plot since the June FOMC meeting showed one more rate hike this year and a much slower pace of rate cuts over the next two years. The ending rate target for each of the next two years were 50 basis points higher than the June dot plot, with the overnight funds target at the end of 2024 rising from 4.625% to 5.125%, and from 3.375% to 3.875% at the end of 2025. This was consistent with the higher-for-longer narrative Fed officials have been emphasizing for months. The longer-term neutral rate was unchanged at 2.50%. At this point in time, it's just expected to take longer to get there.

Yields rose during the month of September and were up sharply over the quarter, with much of the increase occurring at the long end of the curve, as investors factored-in the heightened possibility that inflation could linger, and rate cuts would likely be delayed. Two-year Treasury notes reached cycle highs just below 5.20% during the month before settling at 5.04%, up 18bps during the month. The 10-year T-note rose 46bps in September and 73bps for the quarter, closing at 4.57%, the highest level since 2007.

Investing in fixed income securities involves interest rate risk, credit risk, and inflation risk. Interest rate risk is the possibility that bond prices will decrease because of an interest rate increase. When interest rates rise, bond prices and the values of fixed income securities fall. When interest rates fall, bond prices and the values of fixed income securities rise. Credit risk is the risk that a company will not be able to pay its debts, including the interest on its bonds. Inflation risk is the possibility that the interest paid on an investment in bonds will be lower than the inflation rate, decreasing purchasing power.

Cash alternatives typically include money market securities and U.S. treasury bills. Investing in such cash alternatives involves inflation risk. In addition, investments in money market securities may involve credit risk and a risk of principal loss. U.S. Treasury bills are subject to market risk if sold prior to maturity. Market risk is the possibility that the value, when sold, might be less than the purchase price.

Investing in stock securities involves volatility risk, market risk, business risk, and industry risk. The prices of most stocks fluctuate. Volatility risk is the chance that the value of a stock will fall. Market risk is the chance that the prices of all stocks will fall due to conditions in the economic environment. Business risk is the chance that a specific company's stock will fall because of issues affecting it. Industry risk is the chance that a set of factors particular to an industry group will adversely affect stock prices within the industry.
